CROWN CUT WHITE ASH

A consistent pale straw colour with a pronounced grain pattern which remains distinctive after staining or colouring. Ideal in contemporary furniture applications and shopfitting or decorative doors.

CROWN CUT STEAMED BEECH

Steamed Beech is slightly 'pinkier' than the 'natural' White Beech with an even and consistent colour. Used mainly in the furniture industry and suitable for staining as well as for clear finishing.

KHAYA MAHOGANY

A light to dark reddish brown wood with a natural lustre. Has a moderately coarse texture, but is finer than African Mahogany. Will take a fine finish and is suitable for all kinds of cabinet work.

CROWN CUT WHITE BEECH

A light bluish white color with a fine texture. Growing in popularity because of its price and suitability for clear finishing in a wide range of applications.

CROWN CUT WHITE BEECH

A pale flesh coloured veneer with a fine texture. Growing in popularity because of its price and suitability for clear finishing in a wide range of applications.

CROWN CUT CHERRY

A warm reddish brown colour with a fine grain pattern of character, enhanced by the occasional pip. Most commonly used in reproduction furniture or kitchen and bedroom cabinets.

CROWN CUT MAPLE

A pale creamy white colour with a pink hue in the crowns. It has a subtle grain pattern which can be enhanced with varnishes and polish. Maple is not ideal for staining. Specialist panels in 'Fiddleback' or 'Birds Eye' Maple are available to order.

*Apart from the veneers shown, wood veneer laminate is available to order in many other wood species. Not all veneers will necessarily be available in all sizes. Whilst every effort has been made to represent the veneers as closely as possible, wood is a natural product and consequently variations in color and grain are to be expected.
